

Aida M. Van Herk, R.N., J.D.,
Joins
Mulligan, Banham & Findley
as an Associate Attorney

HELPING PEOPLE WITH MEDICAL MALPRACTICE, PERSONAL INJURY, HEALTH CARE FRAUD AND NURSING HOME/ELDER ABUSE.

"We are thrilled to announce that Aida Van Herk recently joined our legal team as an associate attorney. With her strong medical and claims background, Aida is a great advocate for patient's rights," said Jan Mulligan, senior attorney and founder of Mulligan, Banham & Findley.

Aida M. Van Herk, R.N., J.D., brings valuable insight to our firm through her experience as both a registered nurse and lawyer. Prior to attending law school, she spent over ten years as a practicing nurse in Women's Health and critical care. Applying her extensive clinical expertise to the law, she first began working at a boutique medical malpractice firm, defending some of New England's most prominent healthcare systems. She then went on to work with the largest health care staffing company in the country, handling both healthcare professional licensing issues and multimillion-dollar medical negligence matters.

Today, she specializes in representing plaintiffs in medical malpractice, personal injury, health care fraud, and elder abuse. Ms. Van Herk uses her critical eye to caution against taking cases that might at first blush appear as strong liability, and also to uncover medical facts that support cases that others have declined. She takes the same compassionate and dedicated approach that she did while practicing as a nurse and applies it to each and every client's case, ensuring the best possible outcome. She is devoted to producing superior results, and guided by her unwavering commitment to obtain the justice that her clients deserve.

Ms. Van Herk graduated at the top of her class in nursing school. She earned her Juris Doctor from California Western School of Law, where she attended on an academic scholarship. She is admitted to practice law in California and maintains her license to practice as a registered nurse. Ms. Van Herk is an active member of the San Diego County Bar Association, Lawyers Club, and The Consumer Attorneys of San Diego.

Aida Van Herk joins the strong legal team of Janice F. Mulligan, Elizabeth A. Banham, Brian K. Findley and Steve A. Wallace, M.D. in representing people who have been seriously harmed by medical malpractice, personal injury, health care fraud or nursing home/ elder abuse.
